Customer Reviews

Borch, a cartographic publishing company from Germany, makes tough, long-lasting maps with non-toxic, environmentally responsible lamination material.

I haven't been to Barcelona yet, but the map is being invaluable in helping with location of places we want to go and locations of hotels where we are considering. The metro stops are there as well as all the important sites. It looks like it will be very durable during trip and impervious to wet weather.

The color-coded subway routes were especially helpful. The plastic lamination makes the map very durable and able to withstand the rigors of travel. The one downside with all plastic laminated maps is that they are fairly small and that can make the details hard to read, particularly at the bends.

Great map to buy if you're going to Barcelona. Not too big and laminated so you won't destroy it. Easy to read and find what you're looking for.

easy to read, helpful

Any time I can get a Borch map for any city to which I'm travelling, it's always my first choice. They are fantastic. This purchase was a gift for a cousin but I had bought one years ago for myself when I went to Barcelona.

This is a very good map and is really helpful in using the metro because it tells you at which stations you can access the various metro lines. It is far superior to the Streetwise Madrid map that I had for use in Madrid. The only problem I had with this map was that it indicated the ceramics museum as an independent museum and I walked around for a couple of hours trying to find a non-existent museum which is actually now merged with the design museum at the Placa de las Glories Catalanes.
