Synopsis

Here's a chapter book of contemporary fables about a rambunctious group of fourth graders and their amazing teacher—the globe-trotting, Mayan-ceremonial-robe-wearing Mr. Jupiter—that is sure to delight students and teachers alike. There's Calvin Tallywong, who wants to go back to kindergarten. But when he actually gets the chance, he's forced to do the squirrel dance and wear a school bus name tag. The moral of his story? Be careful what you wish for. Then there's Amisha Spelwadi, who can spell wildebeest, no problem. When Mr. Jupiter asks the class to spell cat, all Amisha can come up with is kat. The moral: Don't count your chickens before they hatch. Kids will laugh out loud as they learn tried-and-true lessons in this funny, fast-paced book. And don't miss the class's continued adventures in The Fabled Fifth Graders of Aesop Elementary School by Candace Fleming. From the Hardcover edition.

Customer Reviews

The Fabled Fourth Graders of Aesop Elementary School is an extremely well done book. Each small story portrays a certain student and a moral. If you find the actual Aesop's Fables boring, this may spark your interest in them. Not only does this book describe the characters extremely well, but the names reflect the personality of a certain student. For example a girl in this book named Victoria Sovaine, is obsessed with her beauty. A boy named Lenny Wittier is extremely witty. This book has up and down emotions, but each story will make you laugh at least once. I recommend this book to any age. I hope you enjoy it as much as I did.

I'll admit, I read Fleming's "Fabled Fifth Graders" a few years before discovering "Fabled Fourth". My fifth graders absolutely loved "Fabled Fifth", so I figured I'd give this book a try with my fourth graders this past year. They fell in love with the characters as much as my fifth graders did with "Fifth". I opened this year with this book as my first read-aloud and ended this year with the "Fabled Fifth" to gear my students up for their next adventures in fifth grade next year. I recommend this to any fourth or fifth grader and their teacher. :)

I've been reading this book to the 4th graders at my school. They love the story and speak about the characters as if they know them. The students can't wait to find out what happens to Mr. Jupiter and company next!

I liked this book because of Mr. Jupiter's way of teaching his trouble making kids a lesson without shouting at them. I would like to have a teacher like him because he handled difficulties in the coolest way possible.

This was my grandchild request for bedtime story reading. As my grandson says - each chapter ends with a "moral to the story". It's a little corny but there is always a good character value lesson and the kids love it - so I do too!

My 4th graders LOVE to listen to this book, and I LOVE to read it to them! It is fun to compare the fables in this book with Aesop's fables.

Awesome book I absolutely love it I will read the next one too Mr Jupiter is a great teacher too so so funny

Bought this for my 9 year old niece who is in 3rd grade. She didn't understand that she can read about 4th graders. I read the first two stories to her which made her laugh. Now she reads the book on her own and tells me she really likes it.
