RAILGUN GOTHIC takes readers to a new sci-fi world where man and sentient machine co-exist. It features the over-the-top science-fantasy and history blended with fiction that readers have come to know and love in Archer de Aimes' work. RAILGUN GOTHIC is the first light novel in this new series. About Archer de Aimes Archer de Aimes' debut novel, RED FEATHER FRAYED, became a phenomenon in Canada. Inspired by his time producing documentary films for television, he hand-crafted a rich and detailed fantasy world from tales and legends told by the Vancouver Island First Nations on the early colonization of British Columbia and Canada. RED FEATHER FRAYED tells the tale of a tribe raised on the coast, who worship a monstrous living Phoenix-God. Terrorized by an ever-creeping horizon of permanent darkness and the demons living under it, the Asla'ati tribe ventures forth to slay beasts for hide and meat. They soon realize that they are not the only race of humanity in this world and that life exists far beyond the sunless lands. RED FEATHER FRAYED is inspired by the legends and myths of Canadian Aboriginals, blended with his love for fantasy and mythology. His latest novel, RAILGUN GOTHIC, follows a young scavenger with a murky past deserted on a desert scorched planet with little water. The titular character Wolf has always lived life for herself, but soon realizes the benefits of company- but first she must learn to trust again. Archer de Aimes grew up in a small town in British Columbia, and currently resides with his wife and son in Vancouver, Canada. **
