Spirit Hermeneutics: Reading Scripture In Light Of Pentecost

Synopsis

Biblical-theological reflection supporting a dynamic, experiential, Spirit-guided reading of Scripture
How do we hear the Spirit's voice in Scripture? Once we have done responsible exegesis, how may we expect the Spirit to apply the text to our lives and communities? In The Spirit and Hermeneutics biblical scholar Craig Keener addresses these questions, carefully articulating how the experience of the Spirit that empowered the church on the day of Pentecost can and should dynamically shape our reading of Scripture today.

Customer Reviews

Craig S. Keener is F. M. and Ada Thompson Professor of Biblical Studies at Asbury Theological Seminary, Wilmore, Kentucky. His many other books include The Gospel of Matthew: A Socio-Rhetorical Commentary and The Historical Jesus of the Gospels.

Solid, sound, and scriptural. A groundbreaking book concerning the Holy Spirit's role in our study of God's Holy Word.

Keener is one of the best, period.

not what I thought it to be, more charismatic

I don't understand why publishers don't publish good books in kindle.... I have heard an interview of Dr. Keener with regards to this book.... I believe it's a very good book.... but can only confirm it once I get to read it.... and I can read it only when publishers publish it in kindle....Dear publishers (Erdmans),Please don't abort the good work you started... you have published a good book by a good author, why then do you not publish it in kindle, which allows us the readers have access to it in an affordable price.... please publish in kindle... regards...I want to read this book and will definitely offer my review once I get to read it.... so I humbly request you the publishers to publish this book in kindle....
