Listen To My Heart

Synopsis

Can you just be afraid of being let down? Coleen Talton just can't seem to break out of her shell. It's her second year in college, and she's still shy, still quiet, and still unable to bring herself to finally explore her sexuality or anything else. That all changes when she rescues a wandering pit bull from a date with a truck's front bumper, and Coleen is drawn into the unusual life of the pup's dark and charismatic owner. You've got no time to get involved that way. Madison Moon's eyes are set on one goal: to make it in the mainstream as an electronic dance music producer. With her talent, she just needs that last final push but it's hard to balance her passion with the pressure her strict traditional parents put on her to finish school and find an acceptable job. She can't afford any distractions, especially not one as big as falling in love, but as she shares her music and her passion with the eager and surprisingly talented Coleen, Madison finds herself slipping. You need to stop ignoring your feelings. As Coleen ventures deeper into Madison's vibrant musical world, her feelings for her talented new friend grow as intense as the beat just before the drop but she just can't believe Madison could be lesbian. Can Coleen finally find the courage to go after her desires, and can she show the stubborn Madison that love is exactly what she needs to finally reach her full potential? Listen to my Heart is a 40,000+ word steamy FF contemporary romance. This page turner has no cliffhanger, no cheating, and a guaranteed happily ever after that will have you cheering for the leads.
