A Poem As Big As New York City: Little Kids Write About The Big Apple

Synopsis

In the best-selling tradition of This is New York and My New York, this delightful book-length poem spreads the wonder and joy that is New York, as told through the words of its children. As part of an unprecedented series of workshops, New York City public school students were challenged to write about what it was like to live, learn, and play in New York City. The poems were collected and edited into this book. Their words provide readers of all ages an honest, kid's-eye view of the melting pot of cultures, ideas, and excitement found within the five boroughs of New York City. Masha D'yans's beautiful illustrations complement the vivid descriptions of taking a taxi through Manhattan or a subway up to the "boogie-down" Bronx, the salty seas of Staten Island, passing the family-owned stores that form the backbone of Queens, walking through Brooklyn's Botanical Gardens, and so much more. Lyrical, heartfelt, and bursting with imagination, A Poem as Big as New York City proves that a poem can be as vast and exciting as the greatest city in the world.

THE NEW YORK TIMES Sunday, 9.9.12 "A Poem as Big as New York" warmly illustrated by Masha D'yans and edited by the Teachers & Writers Collaborative lets the streetwise innocence of young poets shine through. Their big poem is an anonymous collaboration drawn from stacks of handwritten paeans to their hometown...ncteacherstuff.blogspot.com...Illustrator Masha D'yans's artwork is amazing. Watercolor pictures of different cityscapes provide the backdrop for the poem character who is shown by small repeating words inside the shape of the letters P-O-E-M. These are some of my favorite pieces of artwork that I have seen in 2012 children's books. "The book includes 74 color illustrations...that reflect the playfulness and whimsy of the children's poetry. Together, images and words dance, jump, and stroll down crowded sidewalks, taking readers from the South Street Seaport to The Apollo Theater and everywhere in between." ~nymetroparents.com "I was truly amazed by this book. You can hear the multitude of individual voices coming together as one....The children describe their city in both poetic and truly child-centered terms." ~greatkidbooks.blogspot.com "This homage to New York City is the brainchild of the nonprofit Teachers & Writers Collaborative, which asked children throughout the five boroughs to write about their city. Their observations are integrated into a single poem that reflects on neighborhoods, landmarks, and what it means to be a New Yorker...ethereal paintings depict glassy skyscrapers, streets dense with people, and a childlike personification of a poem constructed of text. A mosaic as dynamic as its subject. Ages 5-up." ~Publisher's Weekly "We can't think of a more vibrant way to see the five boroughs from a kid's perspective, and for parents and children to be inspired to share their take on city life." ~New York Family "The poem, both written on the pages and personified in art, is an exhilarating read and the result of an innovative series of writing workshops in the city's public schools. The result was a melding of perspectives, descriptions, alliterative verse and sound words into a poem that feels almost as big and bold and diverse as the city itself." ~Wherethebestbooksare

My 7 years old son loves this poem! This is one if you looking for a creative poem book for kids.

Follow a character who is Poem across New York City. He expresses the many voices, passions, cultures and famous locations that make New York a city that all who live there and visit there know and love. Readers will follow Poem through all of the gritty, bright and colorful abstract depictions of New York's people and places. The jumping, dancing and frolicking about of Poem make this an incredible lively read. How cool you are today, New York, with all the action of Manhattan! Your colorful wave of faces, a place of change where everyone came - New York, you are a bustling, loud, never-resting place, a house of mirrors, a mastermind, a supermodel on a runway, a beehive, a rocket, a poem, a city. A huge collaboration of poems written by children from all over New York city fill pages with their wonder and magic. Children wrote their own poems that reflect how they view the city they live in. Abstract illustrations bring the words to life. This creative endeavor introduces all who opens its pages to the wonderful world that is New York city.

A POEM AS BIG AS NEW YORK CITY Edited by Teachers & Writers Collaborative, Illustrated by Masha D'Yans, Forward by Walter Dean Myers is an interesting collection of children's poems. A collection of poems written by children of New York City that show how they view their city, the sights and sounds of their city. With beautiful illustrations, the help of teachers and writers alike, "A Poem As Big As New York City" is just that a poem as big as the city itself. If you enjoy poems you will enjoy this collection, grandparents and children will enjoy this title. To view the world through the eyes of a child is truly magnificent, they tell the truth and are so innocent. Written for ages 5 and up. Received for an honest from the publisher.
