Customer Reviews

"I really like the layout and the activities. It is easy to read, easy to follow, and offers realistic applications. I especially like the critical thinking sections and reasoning skills." "When I started reading this text, I was immediately excited about the "tire hits the road" examples and real life applications. I see value in the activities. I especially like the time management and study skills unit." "Content is very well organized. It progresses in a logical fashion (i.e., Laying the Foundation, Personal and Professional Characteristics for Success, Setting Goals, First Job as Health Professional). Chapters could be taught independently along the way of a course or taught easily in succession."

Bruce Colbert is an Associate Professor and Director of the Allied Health Care Department at the University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown. The author of 10 traditional books, he also developed an interactive worktext and DVD program on student success. Focusing on such topics as stress and time management, he has presented more than 250 regional and national lectures and workshops devoted to professional skills, enhancing critical and creative thinking and effective decision-making. In addition, Mr. Colbert consults with educational programs to improve teaching effectiveness as well as presents active teaching workshops. Elizabeth Katrancha is an assistant professor of nursing at the University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown, where she teaches in the classroom, clinical unit, and skills laboratory as well as maintains current clinical practice in long-term acute care. Her courses often focus on the knowledge, skills, and attitudes students need to become professionals in the health care environment. Many of the classes include goal setting and success strategies. She has published numerous clinical articles and continues to practice as a registered nurse in acute care.
