I am not sure if it is a translation issue, but there are several images in this that have the wrong zone's labeled or are simply unclear. While this would be caught and worked around by many students/practitioners, it is still a problem. Specifically if you look at images for E Ding zone and E Pang zones, there is an image where the E Pang zones are labeled E Ding Zones.

good overview of all (7) systems of scalp acupuncture. numbering systems a little complex. caption-headings are light instead of dark. should be spaces between paragraphs. much interesting info.
