Locomotion (Leporello)

Synopsis

The beautiful concertina book folds out to a stunning 54 inch panorama detailing the history of trains and locomotives from the very first railroads and machines to sustainability in the twenty-first century and beyond! A brilliant wraparound cover details the notable benchmarks in the history and mythology of trains. Golden Cosmos was set up in 2010 as a collaborative moniker for German artistic couple Daniel Doltz and Doris Freigofas. Their deep knowledge of traditional printmaking techniques and experiences in self-publishing that have won them widespread critical acclaim in illustration circles made them the perfect choice for our trademark concertina series. Their bold use of color and adeptness for shape and form recall the bold patterns and geometry of early Russian constructivism, with a nod to mid-century French commercial art. There is no doubt that this will be a beauty!

Customer Reviews

This is a good choice for classroom libraries and school libraries who serve a slightly older crowd.

The information on trains around the world and at various points in history is perfect for transportation units. #151; Elizabeth Hadwin, Shreve Memorial Library A constantly shifting single image that is both complex and lively. The illustrators deftly draw your attention to subplots that are packed with character and readily identifiable motifs that ensure the book retains a strong narrative. It's Nice That

This beautiful concertina book folds out to a stunning 139 cm panorama detailing the history of trains, beginning with the very first steam engines and travelling all the way to the high speed rail networks of the 21st century! The wraparound cover includes facts for each panel of the panorama, detailing notable benchmarks in the history of train engineering and travel. Both fantastic educational tools and great works of art, the books in Nobrow's bestselling Leporello series make ideal gifts for people of all ages! A beautiful concertina book that can be read as a book, displayed on a mantelpiece or even framed as a print.
